Two new semi-integrated motorhome model ranges will soon be available, including many familiar models. Both ranges are characterised by Hobby's trademark rear lights and sleek roof vents, integrated perfectly into the modern, dynamic exterior design.

The ONTOUR C is a compact, semi-integrated motorhome. Thanks to its width of 2.23 metres, it can effortlessly negotiate narrow and bendy roads in mountainous regions and busy city centres. Built on a CITROËN chassis with a lively 140 hp engine, both the island-bed and single-bed layouts are optionally available with automatic transmission. The ONTOUR T is a versatile all-rounder on a Fiat chassis with a 140 hp engine. With a width of 2.40 metres, all three layouts feel open and spacious, and can easily accommodate large, cosy L-shaped seating areas. To ensure a good night's sleep, a large double bed is installed in the rear section of the ONTOUR T 700 F and ONTOUR T 700 FH. As standard, the ONTOUR T 700 FH features two extra berths thanks to the drop-down bed above the seating area, as well as a powerful 180 hp engine with automatic transmission.
